Cloud Consulting Partners, Inc. Announces Addition of Kim Glassman as Director of Corporate Development

(Rancho Mirage, CA) - Cloud Consulting Partners, Inc. announced today the addition of Kim Glassman to their team. As Director of Corporate Development, Glassman will be responsible for outreach and organization building for Cloud Consulting Partners and their clients in the Riverside, San Diego and Orange Counties – with a specific focus on the Coachella Valley. Previously the Chief of Staff and Campaign Manager for Senator Jim Battin (R - La Quinta) Glassman operated her own consulting business after Battin termed out of office.

“I’m thrilled to join Cloud Consulting Partners and have the opportunity to utilize my skill set in an arena outside of politics. My own consulting work introduced me to this type of assignment, and I am honored to take this on for Cloud Consulting Partners. They are not only experts in the field of Human Capital Management, but they hold strong values and a commitment to the community,” said Glassman. “The CEO [Amy Grubb] has a mission to expand in the Southern California market with the direct intention of being able to pay that forward with a high level of community involvement. That’s something I want to be a part of.”

Cloud Consulting Partners’ (CCP) business focuses on SuccessFactors HCM by SAP, a specific product in the Human Capital Management (also referred to as HCM/HR/Human Resources/Talent Management) industry. As a reseller and implementation partner CCP can offer subject matter expertise, a very personal relationship and direct line of communication as they develop and utilize an HCM system - which improves their own business and bottom line.

As a leader in the HCM industry, CEO of Cloud Consulting Partners, Amy Grubb wrote the book on utilizing SuccessFactors (SuccessFactors with SAP ERP HCM, 2013), and has a team of leading industry experts with her at Cloud Consulting Partners, Inc. A key figure in the industry, Ms. Grubb travels globally to provide consulting, training to companies all over the world and is a frequent speaker at industry seminars. She moved her headquarters to Rancho Mirage in 2012.

“Kim’s expertise in outreach, marketing and public relations, specifically within the Coachella Valley and Southern California, are exactly what Cloud Consulting needs to really reach out in our own backyard,” said Amy Grubb, CEO of Cloud Consulting Partners. “I travel the world for my work and I enjoy that, but I really want to focus on my own community and all the great people and businesses that are right here.”

A Coachella Valley resident for almost 20 years, Glassman recently relocated to Carlsbad due to a job opportunity for her husband. She is well placed geographically and experientially to achieve the goals of Cloud Consulting Partners. An alumni of UC Riverside, Glassman was born in Los Angeles, raised in Riverside, CA and has family in the Coachella Valley. She has had one foot in the desert her entire life and is a true native Southern Californian.
